

Date: 18 Jan 2017

Applications are invited from NET/GATE/GPAT/DBT-BET qualified candidates for a JRF-ship in the project entitled “Hepatocyte Targeted Carbohydrate Anchored Smart Nanostructured Lipid Carriers for Treatment of Malaria”. This project is sponsored by Department of Science and Technology (DST) under Nano Mission at Bombay College of Pharmacy under the supervision of Dr.(Mrs). Ujwala A. Shinde. A fellowship Rs.32, 500 p.m (inclusive of HRA) will be paid for one year. Subsequently the fellowship may be renewed for a period of two individual years [32,500p.m(inclusive of HRA) for 2nd year and 36,400-pm for 3rd year (inclusive of HRA)] based on satisfactory performance of the candidate and subject to renewal by DST. The total duration of the fellowship will be limited to three years.

Candidates with an M.SC./M.Tech/M.Pharm degree (or equivalent) from UGC/AICTE/MHRD etc. recognized institutes with a knowledge of pharmaceuticals and preformulation and a strong interest in drug delivery technology are encourage to apply. Knowledge of polymer/ lipid conjugation, pharmacokinetic and pharmacodynamics is advantageous but not mandatory. Those who have submitted their Masters thesis and are awaiting for viva exam may also apply; however if selected, the candidate must secure his Masters degree quickly. Applicants may be given opportunity to enrol for Ph.D program of Mumbai University through Bombay College of Pharmacy, subject to availability of seats and the fulfilling of all terms and conditions stipulated by the University and the college. Applications (hard copy) should be received in Bombay College of Pharmacy on or before 6th February 2017, 4:00 pm closing time. Candidates are required to submit a covering letter, C.V. and attested copies of their valid certificates/letters/documents in support of their qualification and work experience. Applicants are advised NOT to send any original certificates. Applications should be addressed to Dr. Ujwala A. Shinde, Bombay College of Pharmacy, Sunder Nagar, Kalina, Santacruz(East), Mumbai 400098. Qualifying candidates must appear for a written test/interview as part of the selection process. No TA/DA will be admissible for attending the written test/interview.